A Refuge While We Wait

... When the storms of life are relational—a prodigal child, a rough patch in marriage—we can pour out our hearts to Jesus, our Savior, our Lord, and our faithful Best Friend. His 24/7 companionship can be a refuge as we wait for God's response to our prayers.

The storms of life may also swirl around career uncertainty or financial debt. Again, we can go to God who owns the cattle on a thousand hills; who knows our needs and will meet them; who provides food for the birds and who will provide for us.

More often than not, praying and waiting go hand in hand. When we look back at times we impatiently waited for the Lord's response; though, we often see that His answer came at just the right time. So, as we wait, may we take refuge in God and choose to remember that His timing is perfect.
